

Why November is the Best Time to Score Big on Trips to Kalahari Resorts & Conventions

Insider tips for snagging the season's best deals on waterpark fun, family suites, and more

WISCONSIN DELLS, Wisc. - (Nov. 6, 2025) - When the weather turns chilly, there's something extra satisfying about stepping into 84 degrees of sunshine indoors. That's part of the fun at Kalahari Resorts & Conventions, home to America's Largest Indoor Waterparks, where families can ride, slide, splash, and unwind all year long.

And here's a little insider secret: November is the perfect time to plan, and save on, your next Kalahari escape. Whether you're thinking about a spontaneous weekend away, a winter break trip, or even a thoughtful holiday gift, this is when the resort rolls out some of its most popular offers of the year.

Tip #1: Bookmark the Deals Early

As the holiday season approaches, Kalahari rolls out limited-time specials that travelers wait for all year. The smartest move? Keep an eye on the resort's official deals page kalahariresorts.com/black-friday and sign up for email alerts by visiting kalahariresorts.com/newsletter-signup/.

Hot tip: Many of Kalahari's biggest room and suite discounts drop just before Black Friday - but the early birds who subscribe to the newsletter often get first access.

Tip #2: Think Beyond an Overnight Stay

This time of year, it's not just about booking your stay - it's also about the extras. November deals often include:

- Spa specials at Spa Kalahari & Salon and packages on signature treatments.
- Adventure park deals for Tom Foolerys, Gorilla Grove, and Safari Outdoor Adventure Park.
- Holiday gift card bonuses that reward both the giver and the receiver- buy a gift card and get a bonus card back.
- Early bird pricing for Kalahari's annual Food & (Not Just) Wine Festival, a culinary celebration featuring the resort's world-class dining and regional beer, wine and spirits, hosted at three properties: Ohio, Texas and Pennsylvania.

These extras make thoughtful holiday gifts and are a smart way to save if you're planning a visit later in the season.

Tip #3: Book Smart for the Best Value

If your schedule is flexible, try visiting Sunday through Thursday. Weekday stays tend to offer lower rates, and the waterpark feels like your family's private playground. Pair that with Kalahari's November offers, and you're looking at serious savings.

You can also stretch your dollar with seasonal packages, like the Merry Memories Package, which includes daily breakfast for all registered guests and unlimited waterpark access. With breakfast covered each morning, it's one less thing to plan – and one more reason to relax.

Tip #4: Give the Gift of a Getaway, Not More “Stuff”

Looking for something more meaningful than another sweater or toy under the tree? A Kalahari gift card unlocks endless possibilities, from a splash-filled weekend to a rejuvenating spa day. And when you buy starting during November's promotional period through the end of the year, you'll often get a little bonus value back.

What Makes Kalahari the Perfect Seasonal Destination

With locations in Wisconsin, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, and soon, Virginia, Kalahari is more than a waterpark - it's a complete holiday resort experience. Think:

- Massive indoor waterparks kept at a balmy 84 degrees year-round
- Family-friendly suites spacious enough to fit the whole crew – yes, even the grandparents!
- Adventure parks with mini golf, escape rooms, arcades, and bowling
- Spa services that let parents recharge after a day of play
- Incredible dining options, from old-school Italian at Sortino's to Tex-Mex at Cinco Niños, to steak and seafood, and more

During the holidays, Kalahari transforms into a festive wonderland with Santa sightings, towering Christmas tree displays, and twinkling lights around every corner. Whether you're riding the surf simulator, floating the lazy river, or enjoying dinner after a long day of fun, it's a one-stop family destination built for making memories this holiday season.

The Bottom Line

If you're craving sunshine, family fun, and a little midwinter magic, November is your month to make it happen. Keep an eye out for those limited-time deals, sign up for alerts, and start planning your next splash-worthy getaway.
